Johannesburg Forum participants will discuss key issues for the global mining community within the context of the Southern African mining industry and discover opportunities for their companies to grow and innovate. This event is a chance to discover what the industry's collective vision of future mining looks like.

Critical topics at this event include autonomous mining, interoperability, the "connected" mine, and artificial intelligence and IIoT. Interactive breakout sessions will strategize on collaboration opportunities and requirements to support the evolution of mining. Panel discussions will be an opportunity for exchange of ideas and interaction with all participants.

Between November 2018 and April 2019 GMG is publishing 7 guidelines, authored by hundreds of experts. The forum is an opportunity to learn about these new sources of reference and expertise and to participate in new and launching projects. The newly published guidelines will include:

- ▶ Battery Electric Vehicles Underground (V2)
- ▶ Interoperability Definitions and Roadmap
- ▶ Underground Communications Infrastructure
- ▶ Operational Time Usage Model and KPIs
- ▶ Short Interval Control
- ▶ Mobile Equipment Open Data Consensus
- ▶ Implementation of Autonomous Systems

About GMG

Many of us are trying to solve shared challenges but are isolated within our teams, companies, or countries. Global Mining Guidelines Group is a network of representatives from mining companies, OEMs, OTMs, research organizations, consultants and regulators around the world, whose stakeholders collaborate to tackle challenges facing our industry.
